Projections of operating results are based on information available to management at the time this report was prepared. As such, these projections entail risks and uncertainties. Readers should be aware that actual results and events may differ substantially from these projections. The above forecasts are based on assumptions and other relevant factors discussed in the section on Supplementary Information (Page7).

1. Corporate Group

The PHOENIX Electric Group is made up of PHOENIX Electric Co., Ltd., the parent company (the Company) and two subsidiaries. The Group is engaged primarily in the manufacture and sale of projector lamps, general halogen lamps, automotive halogen lamps and general metal halide lamps.

(1) Business activities of group companies are as follows.

Company	Location	Major activities
PHOENIX Electric Co., Ltd.	Hyogo Prefecture	Manufacture and sale of projector lamps, general halogen lamps, automotive halogen lamps and general metal halide lamps
LUX Co., Ltd.	Hyogo Prefecture	Lamp sales and lighting maintenance for department stores, hotels and other commercial lighting fixtures
PEC LAMP USA CORP.	U.S.A.	Sales of general halogen lamps, automotive halogen lamps and general metal halide lamps in North America

Note: LUX Co., Ltd. and PEC LAMP USA CORP. are both wholly owned consolidated subsidiaries of the Company.

(2) A schematic of workflows is shown below.

Notes:

1. Halogen lamp—Conventional incandescent light bulbs are filled with an inert gas such as nitrogen to reduce evaporation, or sublimation, of the tungsten filament. In halogen lamps, halogen is used instead of an inert gas, reducing lamp size to about 3% of a comparable incandescent light bulb. Other advantages are a longer life and the ability to generate light that is brighter and closer to the color of sunlight.

2. Metal halide lamp—A high-intensity discharge lamp that uses metal halide gases to produce greater brightness (lumens) per watt.

(a) LUX Co., Ltd. purchases halogen lamps and metal halide lamps from the Company for sale to external customers and purchases lamps manufactured by other companies for sale to its customers. The Company purchases lighting fixtures from LUX Co., Ltd. for sale to external customers as part of its lamp business.

(b) PEC LAMP USA CORP. purchases halogen lamps, general metal halide lamps and projector lamps from the Company for sale to external customers and purchases lamps manufactured by other companies for sale to its customers.

2. Management Policies

(1) Fundamental Management Policies

Corporate Vision

The Company's philosophy is that "PHOENIX Electric Products shall have high quality and be able to meet a variety of demands."

The Company's vision is to be a research-driven organization capable of sustained growth, a company that regards manufacturing as a fine art and strives to be the first choice of customers by supplying original products that have outstanding performance and quality for the benefit of shareholders, employees, customers and society.

The reborn PHOENIX Electric wants to develop into a company where every employees is glad that he or she remained or decided to join.

Management Policies

a) Maintain a sound and flexible corporate structure

Build a powerful corporate infrastructure capable of sustaining growth while also having the flexibility required to quickly adapt to change.

b) Conduct management in an organized and open manner

Conduct operations in a highly transparent, organizational and open manner to be a company that is fair and just to shareholders, employees and customers and to be a responsible corporate citizen.

c) Conduct streamlined, scientific operations

Based on the theme that "information is an asset for everyone to use, so everyone should use information to generate profits," the Company has adopted an ERP system and makes substantial investments in data warehouse software and other IT systems. The goal is to make the Company even stronger by conducting streamlined and scientific management practices aimed at reducing inventories, cutting costs, shortening lead times and achieving other improvements.

d) Deliver global-standard performance and quality

Aim to manufacture products that deliver performance and quality that rank among the best in the world for the purpose of increasing OEM sales to customers in the lamp industry, particularly overseas companies.

(2) Medium- and Long-term Management Strategies

The core strategy is to upgrade the Company's core competences of developing and manufacturing specialty lamps for projectors and extending user support. The Company also places priority on taking advantage of its small scale to be of greater assistance to customers. The goal is to become number one in niche markets (projector lamps) where the Company can best leverage its unique competitive strengths. Accordingly, management will continue to concentrate resources in the projector lamp business.

Concurrently, the Company plans to quickly enter the market for lamps used in lamp-type large-screen televisions, a market where demand is growing rapidly. Royal Philips Electronics N.V. is now the dominant supplier of these lamps, which are to become the Company's next growth driver.

The Company strives to achieve further refinements in its operations in the following respects:

- A unique strategy for competing successfully
- Consistent growth
- A solid base of operations
- A prominent industry stature
- A sophisticated management system
- Unique attributes that competitors cannot match
- Happy shareholders, customers, suppliers and employees
- A solid number-one position among customers

The objective is to become a "true middle-market company."

(3) Important Issues

The projector market continues to expand, with considerable growth foreseen in the coming years. However, the nature of this industry is changing significantly as price-based competition heats up. The most notable changes are:

- Sales are shifting from audio-visual product channels to channels used for PCs and products sold at discounts.
- PC manufacturers are establishing strong market positions (full-scale entry of Dell and HP)
- Contract manufacturers and EMS are becoming increasingly important factors
- Taiwan-based Coretronic has emerged as a formidable competitor
- Japanese manufacturers are entering China

Another notable development is the rapid growth in sales of lamp-type large-screen televisions. Over the next few years, demand for these televisions is expected to grow to the same scale as that for projectors.

To respond to these shifts in its operating environment, the Company must address the following issues.

* All markets

-Increase production capacity

Raise monthly output from the current 40,000 units to 80,000 units (begin increasing output in March 2004, reaching this goal by December)

-Partially revise the business model

Shift from selling complete lamp units to selling lamps alone

Shift lamp assembly operations to China (goal is to begin this shift in October 2004)

-Hire more engineers

* Entry in market for lamp-type large-screen televisions

- Develop and sell lamps exclusively for this application (Company plans to begin supplying these lamps to the big four TV makers in April 2004)

* Projector lamp market

- Establish relationships with more new customers (large PC manufacturers)

Demand for lamps, including in the emerging category of lamp-type large-screen televisions, is expected to increase significantly. To be certain that it can capitalize on the resulting opportunities, the Company will be directing all its resources to the actions listed above.

3. Results of Operations and Financial Position

(1) Results of Operations (April 1 - September 30, 2003)

1) Summary of the First Half

In the first half of the current fiscal year, the outlook for Japan's economy became positive. The injection of public funds eliminated fears about the financial system while restructuring initiatives sparked a rebound in corporate earnings. As a result, the Nikkei average topped ¥10,000 and capital expenditures grew. However, concerns about another slowdown remain because of trends in foreign exchange rates and the U.S. economy.

Overseas, the U.S. economy continued to expand, but the impact of hostilities in Iraq is burdening the economy with fiscal and trade deficits. In addition, unemployment remains high. In this environment, there are concerns that the U.S. may adopt a cheap-dollar policy to support manufacturers as the next presidential election nears.

The global projector market continues to grow. Originally driven mainly by industrial users, the projector market is now expanding into the home theater category. At the same time, projector manufacturers are enhancing performance and ease of use while producing models that are smaller and cheaper.

Due to these factors, sales of projector lamps, the core product of the Phoenix Electric group of companies, increased 9.1% compared with one year earlier. This growth was achieved despite challenges posed by the rising share of sales from lower-priced lamps and the impact of the yen's appreciation.

In general halogen lamps, there was an increase in OEM sales to large Japanese manufacturers as the Company withdrew from unprofitable market sectors overseas. The result was improvement in profitability under the decreased sale.

Sales at subsidiaries continued to climb. Sales of products purchased from other companies posted a 36.2% increase.

With regard to manufacturing, the Company has established a framework that can quickly supply projector manufacturers with the lamps they require as well as boost productivity. This was accomplished by creating a system in which many types of lamps can be produced at once on a single assembly line one by one. Another advance was a simpler means of altering an assembly line to produce a different lamp model.

Regarding earnings, the Company increased the procurement of key parts from overseas suppliers and took other actions to cut costs. However, the impact of the yen's appreciation along with growth in the R&D and quality assurance workforce caused a year-on-year decline in operating income.

Due to these factors, first half consolidated net sales increased ¥220,967 thousand year on year to ¥3,080,309 thousand, but operating income was down ¥37,792 thousand to ¥429,675 thousand. Recurring profit decreased ¥39,889 thousand to ¥381,439 thousand and net income decreased ¥14,765 thousand to ¥229,902 thousand.

In relation to the Company's forecast for the first half, net sales were ¥144,309 thousand higher and operating income was ¥36,675 thousand higher. However, due to the appreciation of the yen late in the first half, recurring profit was ¥4,561 thousand below plan and net income exceeded the plan by only ¥342 thousand.

The appreciation of the yen reduced first half net sales by ¥10,829 thousand and was responsible for non-operating expenses of ¥44,682 thousand. The combined impact of these items reduced recurring profit by ¥55,511 thousand.

2) Results by business segment

Based on the similarity of its products and how they are manufactured, the Company has decided that it operates in a single business segment, the lamp business. For this reason, results are presented here by product category in lieu of presenting business segment information.

(thousands of yen)

Product category	Net sales	YoY change (%)	Composition (%)
General halogen lamps	252,608	(8.2)	8.2
Automotive halogen lamps	170,078	(27.2)	5.5
General metal halide lamps	28,845	(35.6)	0.9
Projector lamps	2,062,949	9.1	67.0
Purchased products	565,828	36.2	18.4
Total	3,080,309	7.7	100.0

3) Results by geographic segment

Results by geographic segment are not presented because Japan accounts for more than 90% of the total sales and assets of all geographic segments.

(2) Financial Position

Cash Flows

There was a net decrease of ¥161,229 thousand in cash and cash equivalents compared with September 30, 2002. A summary of cash flows and major components follows.

(Operating activities)

Net cash provided by operating activities was ¥117,405 thousand compared with ¥514,802 thousand one year earlier. The main reason for the decrease was income tax payments of ¥431,419 thousand as the time limit on deferred tax deductions was reached during the first half of the current fiscal year.

(Investing activities)

Net cash used in investing activities was ¥80,403 thousand compared with ¥84,226 thousand one year earlier. This was mainly attributable to capital expenditures, mostly for projector lamp manufacturing equipment, and the extension of ¥60,000 thousand loan to a major supplier of the Company for the purchase of capital equipment.

(Financing activities)

Net cash used in financing activities was ¥198,163 thousand compared with ¥194,554 thousand one year earlier. Cash was used mainly for the repayment of long-term borrowings, repayment of installment credit and dividend payments.

(3) Outlook (April 1, 2003 - March 31, 2004)

In the second half of the fiscal year ending in March 2004, the Company has revised its exchange rate assumption from ¥119 to ¥108 to the U.S. dollar because the yen is expected to continue to strengthen. Furthermore, although expansion of the projector lamp market is expected to continue, the Company has lowered sales projections in certain categories due to the projected impact of a shortage in the supply of imaging elements used in some mainstay items of projectors on which the Company's lamps are mounted of the Company's major products.

Despite these factors, the Company expects to post higher sales and earnings in the fiscal year ending in March 2004. For the year, the Company is forecasting a 6.4% increase in net sales to ¥6,321 million and a 5.7% increase in recurring profit to ¥873 million. Net income is expected to climb 35.9% to ¥595 million because of a ¥74 million extraordinary income resulting from the shift from a tax-qualified pension plan to a defined contribution pension plan. As a result, the net income per share forecast is ¥83.78, about the same as the initial forecast of ¥84.71.
